

Intermediate Architect Impact Description

Green Hammer is looking for an Intermediate Architect to join our creative and collaborative team of architects and builders. We are a Certified B-Corporation and a leading sustainable design build firm in Portland, OR. Our mission is to inspire the evolution of our living environment by creating buildings that promote health and protect the planet. We capitalize on our Unified Design-Build Process and inclusive, collaborative culture, to develop high-performance and highly sustainable residential, commercial, and multi-family projects. We are one of 27 firms in the United States meeting the AIA's 2030 Commitment.

Ideal Qualifications

You are inspired by Green Hammer's mission. You understand the power of collaboration and see working within a multi-disciplinary team (including other architects, builders, and trade partners) as the most effective way to design and build highly sustainable buildings. You are a highly organized, self-starting individual and are comfortable designing and managing multiple projects simultaneously. You are comfortable identifying and setting priorities for yourself to meet team deadlines and can balance the pull of both time-sensitive and lower priority needs to ensure progress on all fronts. You love the messy creative aspect of design but know how to balance and manage it with a clear and efficient process, an organized calendar, and adherence to a budget.

As an Intermediate Architect, you are an integral part of the Unified Design-Build Process and a key driver of the Design. You will be involved in a variety of projects from renovations, new ADUs and single-family residences, to small multi-family and commercial. Depending on the project scale, you will fulfill a variety of roles including Project Architect and Design Project Manager and be engaged with projects from Sales through Construction Administration.
